Proposing a way to connect to producers

Geoff Williams, 15 February 2015

What if there was a way to connect emerging and freelance directors with emerging producers? We thought that there might be a way of connecting SDUK with Stage 1, by creating an event where directors and producers could meet. We imagine this as an open forum, rather like today. There should be no pressure to buy or sell anything - although this is possible. The idea is simply to make connections rather than show work.
